When asked why they’ve decided to help Bassett over the years and why they’ve made plans to give a portion of their estate to Bassett in the future, Cooperstown residents Bill and Laurie Glockler simply say, “We’re thankful, that’s why we give.”

Bill explains, “Bassett and MCi helped us in our careers. And now they have decided to pay it forward. Laurie, who previously had been a school teacher on Long Island, joined Bassett when she and Bill moved to this area, and worked at Bassett Medical Center for 35 years as receptionist and registrar. She was responsible for training many new staff members.”

After a stint in the Air Force, Bill worked for telecommunications companies, too deciding not to retire. He participated in athletic events over the years and has been a part of the General Clinton Canon Regatta twelve times. Laurie and Bill love the outdoors and the country life.

The Glockler’s have made lifelong contributions to Bassett: “We’re thankful; that’s why we give. The Glockler generosity has also been a Legacy of Caring: Now and for the Future,” said Laurie. “I am awed when I sit back and reflect on the impact that Bassett Healthcare Network has on our community. We have neighbors who have entered this world to the welcoming arms of Bassett Healthcare Network, have been treated here for every bump, bump, cold, and flu in their lives, have had vaccines that prepared them along the way and have gone for checkups with both positive and negative results; have received great news and challenging news and have said goodbye to loved ones in a caring and nurturing environment. From more improved is the fact that so many people who delivered this professional care may have lived down the street from them or perhaps in a nearby town. This newsletter is about Bassett Healthcare Network and how it is an important part of our lives.

One of the buzz phrases I like to hear is, “I wish I could do more, but…” because Delaware and the immediate surrounding communities that meant so much to our parents and family. Mom and dad would be so proud to have their name associated with such a center focused on a healthy community just as we are the foundation.”

Michael A. Ogden, president of Little Falls Hospital, said, “It is very exciting to think of helping address the unmet demand for health care and vitality by constructing the Walker D. Kirby Development for the relocation, design, and construction of the new center, which replaces the older facility on Main Street. Donations from local community members and foundations are also being used to make the new health center a reality.

The 5,000-square-foot center will be able to accommodate up to four practitioners and will feature eight exam rooms, offices, and a laboratory. A new 2,000-square-foot addition for the purpose of hosting community and wellness programs is currently being built next to the newly constructed center.

The Walker D. Kirby Primary Care Center is expected to be completed by the fall of 2020.
